Summary

A qualified teacher by the University of Arizona I also have a Bachelor's in Translation as well as I am seeking to gain my master's in Education at the University of the People in advanced teaching This means I can help you with any language needs you might have

I have over five years of tutoring experience teaching English to both groups and individuals face-to-face, online

I have taught students from different levels starting from the beginner to the advanced level

Teaching is all about people and I've always been a very approachable and supportive educator

As a language learner myself I am familiar with the struggles and frustration that students may encounter when learning a language, and I am passionate about English and I always try to infuse my lesson with interesting material and make them more memorable Over the year of teaching, I've helped students pass the exams and improve their general level of English

Get the job of their dreams and gain more confidence when they speak

I teach different courses such as

The conversational course where you can practice your speaking and gain more confidence when speaking to foreigners

General English where you can practice all four language skills writing listening reading and speaking

English for starters from 1st to 12th grades

Job interviews, business meetings, public presentations

Where you can build your confidence when applying for a job abroad

I have great cultural awareness as I read more and more about differentiation among them.

As well as these I am a former Human Skills Developer and motivational speaker in both Arabic and English which means that I can create a very entertaining atmosphere.

And I also have an experience in HR consultation that allows me to give many job interviews recommendations, especially with a high level of self-esteem

I can help you with English for the workplace

Moreover, I am very good at catering my lessons to meet your needs
